1. Call to Order

Matthew Jones called the meeting to order at 6:06 p.m. with Matthew Jones and Lanelle Tapsoba present, constituting a quorum. Gretchen Burns joined at approximately 6:32 p.m.; her meeting invitation had shown a 7:00 p.m. start time. The meeting was recorded on Zoom for preparation of the minutes.

Lanelle Tapsoba noted that, for associations generally, attorneys recommend against recording meetings. The board will revisit this as the association becomes more established.

2. October 8 Special Membership Meeting Minutes

The directors reviewed the minutes of the October 8, 2026 special meeting of members. No corrections or omissions were identified. The minutes will be presented to the members for approval at the next members' meeting. Lanelle Tapsoba noted that minutes should not be posted publicly until they are approved.

3. Election of Officers

With all three directors present, Matthew Jones moved that the following directors be elected as officers. Lanelle Tapsoba seconded. The motion carried unanimously, with no opposition.

Office	Director
President	Matthew Jones
Secretary	Gretchen Burns
Treasurer	Lanelle Tapsoba

Going forward, Matthew Jones will prepare draft minutes from the meeting transcript and send them to the Secretary for review and final copy.

4. Director Terms and Bylaws

4.1 Terms

Matthew Jones reported guidance from Evelyn Dufford, Association Services of Washington, that because the association has not adopted bylaws, director terms default to one year. She did not recommend term limits, noting that volunteers are hard to find. Officers are chosen by the board from among the directors.

4.2 Bylaws

Matthew Jones reported his understanding of Evelyn Dufford's guidance: using the 1985 bylaws would require adoption by the board and ratification by the members, and drafting new bylaws that meet the WUCIOA requirements taking effect January 1, 2028 may be the better path. He noted it is not yet certain whether the association falls under those requirements. Lanelle Tapsoba agreed that aligning with WUCIOA makes sense, noted that drafting bylaws can be expensive and may not need to be rushed, and will seek a second opinion from her Director of Operations. No action was taken.

5. Management Companies

Matthew Jones summarized his outreach to management companies. Of the companies contacted, two are willing to manage the association: Association Services of Washington (Evelyn Dufford), which has experience with sewerage associations and county regulatory reporting, and Signature Management (Jessica Jones). Proposals have been requested from both. Evelyn Dufford's proposal is pending, and Jessica Jones has asked to meet with the board to understand the association's needs before preparing a proposal.

The directors agreed that full-scope management is the right approach, so that the board can focus on governance. Lanelle Tapsoba noted that full scope for a sewerage association would include billing, delinquencies, and financials. The directors agreed to gather proposals, discuss them, and then invite the preferred company or companies to a Zoom meeting with the board for questions.

Matthew Jones noted that the association currently has no funds, and that how a management company would handle start-up costs before assessments are collected remains to be worked out. He also noted he has paid initial re-establishment costs personally; Gretchen Burns noted those should be reimbursed once the association has funds. Gretchen Burns suggested that, with the holidays approaching, any new assessments may be better received after the first of the year; Matthew Jones agreed that assessments are likely to come after the first of the year given the work still needed.

6. Member Communication Plan

The directors discussed updating the association website to serve as a communication and transparency resource until a management company is engaged. Ideas discussed included posting approved minutes, upcoming board and member meetings, and association documents (excluding the unapproved 1985 bylaws), keeping the address lookup, and adding a stay-connected form that sends homeowner contact information to the association email to build a roster.

The directors agreed that a mailing to all homeowners is also needed to announce the board meeting schedule, with a QR code linking to the website and dial-in information. Matthew Jones will email website updates to the directors for feedback.

Matthew Jones offered to provide the other directors access to the association email. He reported on association email activity: one title company inquiry (the property was not within the association), contact information from several homeowners following the October 8 meeting, and concerns from one homeowner, who will be offered an opportunity to address the board once it is organized.

7. Board Meeting Schedule

The directors agreed to meet monthly on the second Monday of each month at 6:00 p.m. by Zoom, so that the schedule can be shared with homeowners. Lanelle Tapsoba explained how to set up a recurring Zoom meeting with no end date so that the link stays the same.
